Urbana Man Leaves Wife

An Urbana man recently left his wife after a heavy storm to find out if any damage had been done to the fences on his farm. He was glad to return to her with the information that every strand was in place.

Needless to Say, It Was an American Fence

For the American is the fence that stands the roughest weather and toughest wear—that resists hardest attacks of animals—because of its special construction of strong live wires.

The Efficiency of Buying At Home.

Did you ever stop to think what a convenience it is to have a full line of good retail stores at home in our own community? It enables people to see goods at any time before paying down money. In that way the purchaser detects many faults that could never be found in buying from a catalog cut. Furthermore, you get your goods when you want them without either letter writing, or without the fatigue of a journey to a big city and tramping all over its streets. It is an economy of time, car fares, human energy. Furthermore, you can do your shopping at your leisure, when you are in a mood for it, rather than in the haste and flurry of a trip out of town. In our home stores you take all the time you want to talk over your purchase and inspect goods. You can positively assure yourself that you are buying right.

Furthermore, you get more personal and intelligent attention in a home store than anywhere else. The proprietors and clerks must please home trade, or get out of business. It is human nature to take more pains for people that are known than for strangers. The home merchant will go the utmost limit to give satisfaction for defects in the goods and without irritating red tape. When locating for residence or business, people are as slow to settle in a place lacking good stores as in a place where the good is not good. If we want to draw in new residents, everyone must do his share to provide them with the conveniences of retail trade. The only way to do this is to patronize the home merchant. It is the good fortune of this community to have a line of finely equipped and attractively stocked retail stores. But if every dollar possible were spent at Complete outfit, which includes inhaler, $1. Extra bottles of HYOMEI 50 cents at B. L. Middleton and druggists everywhere.

A Case of Necessity.

A teacher desiring to test her class as to its knowledge of Irish history, interrogated the boys as follows:

"Patrick," she began, "why are you wearing a green ribbon to-day?"

"Because it's the anniversary of the great and good St. Patrick, ma'am."

"Very well. And you, Michael, why are you wearing a green ribbon?"

"Because St. Patrick is Ireland's patron saint, ma'am, and green is Ireland's color."

"Good! And now, Solomon Eckhardtstein, tell us why you in your turn are wearing a green ribbon?"

"Because, ma'am, Pat and Mike and Denny said they'd buss my snoot if I didn't."

The Schlegel Studio to be Opened Again.

On or about May 1, the Schlegel Studio will be opened by the Secary Sisters. They will make it a high-class place in every respect. This does not mean that their places in Danville and Stanford will be closed. These places will be continued as formerly. Wait for us.

Hunting the Allen Outlaws.

Few persons can be showing better spirit this week than the sheriffs and deputies who are tracking the Allen gang through the Virginia and North Carolina mountains. Hunting the Appalachian mountaineer has been called staking the biggest of big game. It is always doubtful whether the sportsman gets his man, or the man gets the sportsman. The difficulties of life in these Virginia summits are illustrated in the experiences of Archdeacon F. W. Nave of the Blue Ridge. He tells of a young clergyman who was fired at several times, and finally warned that a certain mountaineer had threatened to shoot him at sight. He went immediately to the man's house, and called out, "I understand you are going to shoot me." The mountaineer was so taken aback that he dropped his weapon and engaged in pleasant chat.

The posse which is tracing the Allens is armed with something more offensive than hymn books, and if they find their men, will meet with a rougher reception. In spite of the aloofness of these hill people, they are scientific adepts at gun play, said to excel the Western frontiersman in quickness. The latest models of revolvers often find their way into the highlands two months after they are first issued from the factory. A government surveyor gave in Ouling a few years ago an account of the marksmanship of the Appalachian mountaineers. A half dollar was flipped in the air at a distance of 30 feet. The mountaineer shot twice, pulling the gun so quickly that no one saw him move. Picking up the coin he showed the hole clean through the center, and another furrowing the milling on the edge. The first shot must have deflected the coin, and how he hit it again was a marvel. This is the kind of thing the Allen gang pursues are up against. These are called bloodless times, but our officers of the law must often take about the risks involved by going to war.
